SUBJECT: Meeting with Jim Malone

1. As a follow up to a letter I sent to him earlier this month (attached) I met this afternoon with Jim Malone in his office at ACDA--at the moment he is both Acting Director, ACDA, and Assistant Secretary of State, Designate, for OES. Tony and Harry Marshall (Principal Deputy Assistant Secretary/OES) were also present. I briefed Malone on organization matters, the proliferation production program (Malone asked when the NIE would be ready--I said in a month or so), and a number of country issues [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] He thanked me and requested that I look into the [REDACTED] position with respect to safeguarding certain facilities in [REDACTED]. Marshall also requested that we try to get copies of some bilateral nuclear cooperation agreements (I will be discussing these requests with the DO tomorrow).

2. While waiting for Malone to return from a sudden visit to the Hill, [REDACTED] and I met briefly with Mike Pillsbury, Acting Deputy Director, ACDA. We discussed a number of issues including "verification" vs "monitoring" in arms control. Pillsbury's view is that there is no difference between the two.

THE DIRECTOR OF CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE

WASHINGTON, D.C. 20505

Deputy Director for National Foreign Assessment

NFAC 984-81
4 March 1981

Mr. James L. Malone
Assistant Secretary of State
(Designate) for Oceans and International Environmental and Scientific Affairs
Department of State
Washington, D.C. 20520

Dear Mr. Malone:

The Intelligence Community now has underway a National Intelligence Estimate (NIE) that will project the nuclear programs and intentions of a number of countries of proliferation concern. The terms for this project were developed and issued earlier this year-- I have enclosed a copy for your information and review and would welcome your comments and suggestions. As you will note in my covering memorandum to the representatives of the National Foreign Intelligence Board, the aim is to have a draft of the NIE available next month.

At a convenient time for you in the near future I would like to meet with you to discuss my role as Special Assistant to the DD/NFA, Bruce Clarke, for nuclear proliferation intelligence and the range of current and planned intelligence activities and capabilities in the area of nuclear proliferation. I would also like to get your perspective on how intelligence can best support the policy community in the nuclear proliferation field. These matters were raised during a recent visit by my deputy, [REDACTED] with Harry Marshall.

I look forward to meeting with you.

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]

Special Assistant for Nuclear Proliferation Intelligence
